N. A. JASSBY BUYS HALF INTEREST IN CAFE BUSINESS

Former Member of Great Canadian Firm to Take Glen Inn Management

N. A. Jassby has purchased a half interest in the Glen Inn, 152 South Brand boulevard, Glendale's cafe beautiful, and will assume personal management of the establishment.

To former residents of Montreal, Canada, this announcement will be astounding as Mr. Jassby was a member of the firm bearing his name which operated a chain of high class drug stores and tea rooms. They sold out several years ago to the Louis K. Liggett company for more than $600,000, of which $175,000 was paid for the name Jassby.

In taking the entire management of the Glen Inn, Mr. Jassby declares he intends to build a reputation in Southern California similar to that enjoyed by his firm in Montreal and that this is but the first of several similar establishments suburban to Los Angeles in the high class residential districts.

Members of Mr. Jassby's family expect to join him here soon and make their home in Glendale. It will be a decided acquisition for this city, both from financial and social standpoints.

CHARLES BEAMON HOST AT PARTY

Entertains Group of His Friends at Gathering, Brookside Park

In celebration of the birthday of Charles Beamon, who graduated last week from the Intermediate school, his grandmother and cousin, Mrs. C. H. DuBois and Miss Gertrude Du Bois of Long Beach, entertained a group of eighteen young people Saturday, June 17, with a picnic outing and luncheon in Brookside Park, Pasadena.

The company motored over to the park early Saturday morning and enjoyed swimming and games before the luncheon hour.

Fourth of July colors were used in decorating the picnic luncheon tables set on the lawn in the shade of the tall trees. A minature figure of Uncle Sam occupied the center of the table and presided over the informal festivities. Red, white and blue crepe paper was used to further carry out the patriotic color scheme and nut cups and place cards in the same colors marked each place.

Added features of the luncheon appointments were small firecracker favors containing chocolate candy and rice cakes containing a fortune for each guest.

Early in the afternoon the young people returned to Glendale and were entertained with an informal dancing party at the A. M. Beamon home on Maryland street.

The guests were all members of the graduating class at the intermediate school and in addition to celebrating Charles Beamon's birthday, the affair was a final gathering of the class. Those enjoying the affair were Alberta Plasterer, Elizabeth Waiker, Dorothea Humann, Dorothy Burch, Wilma and Frances Kulp, Katherine Stanley, Jean Ingram, Frances Bourne, Evelyn Edwards, Charles Buss, Charles Flynn, Wallie Trau, Homer Searles, Dewey McCourt, Leighton Taylor, Lyle Wheeler and Charles Beamon.

LIVINGSTON THOM PAINTED BY SUN HERE AND THERE

Also Everywhere; Yea, He Hunts for Coat of Tan, Gets Whole Suit!

Boys will be boys.
Also, they will boast.
And they like to be sunburned.
Tanned like an Indian is their idea of "paint."

Just as a girl loves to be lily white, their brothers like to be burned brown.

So it was that Livingston Thom, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Thom, 303 North Isabel street, invited a party of friends out to the reservoir on the ranch in the Verdugo foothills on Saturday.

Then, to make it more interesting, he had several members of male persuasion arrive earlier in order that they might be sunburned on all sides, angles, curves, etc., so that the tan would be 100 per cent complete.

Seems that the girls are awfully interested in hearing about 100 per cent tans. Even some of them try the experiment themselves.

But Livingston has learned, according to his father, that such treatment must be applied in small doses. For he got too much, as did other members of the party, and they have been eating and sleeping buffet style.

It may be necessary for the Thom family to postpone their trip to the cabin in the Big Bear lake country Thursday until the son and heir can recuperate from the effects of Old Sol's bath.

MARRY IN BOWER OF HONEYSUCKLE

Miss Alice F. Roberts Is C. W. Westbrook's Bride at Home Ceremony

A very pretty wedding took place Sunday afternoon, June 18, 1922, when Miss Alice F. Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fayette Roberts of 509 West Milford street, became the bride of Charles W. Westbrook, son of Mrs. Louise Westbrook of Highland Park.

The ceremony was solemnized before a party of more than 100 friends and relatives at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones, 2009 Canyon Drive, Hollywood. Dr. Wilson of Los Angeles officiated.

The home was beautifully decorated with pink gladioli and daisies, and the bridal couple stood beneath a bower of honeysuckle and ferns. They were unattended except for the tiny flower girl, Alice Louise Lorbeer, a namesake of the bride's.

The bride wore a charming gown of silk lace over georgette crepe, with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Preceding the wedding march from "Lohengrin," which was played by a trio consisting of Dr. Wismer, Miss Clark and Miss May Orcutt, a cousin of the bride.

During the reception which followed the ceremony, friends of the bride, who is well known in musical circles, gave a delightful program. Those assisting were Mrs. T. L. Lorbeer of Riverside, Mrs. Norina Coleman, Miss Nina Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. Pellicrotti.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westbrook left immediately for a motor trip to the Yosemite, and will be at home to their many friends at 201-A West Avenue 50, Highland Park, after the first of August.

Large Crowd Enjoys Last Dance by Elks

The last regular monthly informal dance of the summer season was given Saturday night at the local Elks' clubhouse with about 200 members of the organization and their ladies present. He is a member of Santa Monica Elks' lodge.

Music for dancing was furnished by a four-piece orchestra. During the evening refreshments of punch and wafers were served. The committee in charge of the evening's good time included Joseph Belluc, Harry Whaley, Gerald A. Dockeray and William Bode. The customary 11 o'clock toast was given by Esteemed Lecturing Knight Dockeray.

Yesterday, while he was returning to Glendale, two youngsters were spending the afternoon hurling rocks at passing automobiles. One of them pierced the top of his roadster and struck Mrs. Booth. Injury was slight.

Mr. Booth immediately stopped the car and gave chase to the boys. Both of them escaped but one left a bicycle behind, which he confiscated. It was claimed later in the day by a boy who was released after a reprimand at the police station.

LARGE NUMBER OF SENIORS ATTEND AT METHODIST

Baccalaureate Sermon Delivered by Dr. C. M. Crist to Class Members

The baccalaureate sermon by Dr. Clyde M. Crist last night at the First Methodist church was attended by a large number of seniors from Glendale Union High school.

According to the annual custom, members of the graduating class marched into the church in a body and occupied pews in the center section.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the Central Christian church.

The scripture lesson was read by Rev. James F. Winnard, pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian church.

Dr. Crist selected "Making Much Out of Little," or "Investing Successfully the Capital of Life," for the title of his address. His text was from Luke 9:16-17, as follows:

"Then He took the five loaves and the two fishes, and looking up to heaven, He blessed them, and brake, and gave to the disciples to set before the multitude. And they did eat and were all filled; and there was taken up of fragments that remained to them twelve baskets."

"God has made a whole universe of small things," Dr. Crist said. "The telescope reveals to us the immensity of the heavens, discloses to us innumerable planets and suggests to us the infinitude of space. But a look in the other direction by the aid of the microscope opens up a new universe and discloses myriads of the infinitesimal creations of the Almighty. With the Psalmist we say, 'The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament showeth forth His handiwork.' But can we not with equal enthusiasm say, that the microscopic revelations declare with as much wonder the glory of the Divine Creator?

Made Up of Atoms

"Science affirms that all big things are made up of atoms. So, in a sense, all things are little. What a charm and what a challenge there is in it all! God is not stingy in the matter of worlds or in grains of sand. There is the same perfection and pre-

Houston Jones and Son at Lang Ranch

A. Houston Jones and son, Richardson D. Jones of 376 West Lexington Drive, accompanied by friends from Los Angeles, motored Saturday to the Fred Lang ranch in the vicinity of Victorville, going by way of Cajon Pass, and arriving after a trip of 117 miles, in an altitude of 3500 feet, finding the mercury standing at 95, but not uncomfortably warm.

This beautiful forty-acre ranch with thousands of apple trees and numbers of other deciduous fruit trees, located in a section where all the surrounding country produces only yuccas and desert foliage, is one of the novel attractions of that part of the state. The late frost of this spring caught the apples in full blossom and only half the normal crop survived. Cherries, both black and white varieties, were ripe, as well as early peaches. The party returned Sunday night.

Glendale Makes It Five Straight; Not One Gone Dropped So Far

The batting of Acosta, who got four hits in five times at bat, and the fielding of Wilson and Flanders, all of the local team, were features of yesterday's baseball game between the Armstrong Auto Co.'s team, of Los Angeles, and the Glendale Merchants. The locals upset the dope and defeated the Armstrongs 13 to 11.

Though both teams played a rather ragged game at times, Glendale had a little more speed, and staged a rally late in the game, clinching the score. Cobb, holding down first base for the locals, had nine putouts to his credit, and King, catching, showed ability both in that line and in announcing the humorous features of the game.

King started the game as pitcher, and twirled the ball consistently, but not up to his usual form. In the eighth he exchanged places with Aggeson, then playing left garden. Aggeson allowed one hit, and then struck out three men in a row. In the ninth the Armstrongs failed to score.

The Glendale Merchants now hold a record of five games won and none lost. Yesterday's game marked the first defeat of the Armstrong team. The score:

SUES GOVERNMENT FOR BOOZE-BUYING PERMIT

NEW YORK. — Declaring that rum and brandy are necessary for culinary purposes in his home, Walter E. Koehler has instituted proceedings in equity in federal court for a mandatory injunction requiring Federal Prohibition Director Day to furnish him a permit to buy the 'required amounts' of these 'household necessities.' A treasury department ruling depriving householders from obtaining liquors for cooking purposes is attacked in Koehler's petition as being discriminatory. Manufacturers of food products, he declares, are permitted to purchase liquors consumed in making their products.

NOTHING? ONE-TO-SEVEN.

NEW YORK, June 19. — The greatest idol ever known to the American turf is not Man-O-War, who trifled with records at any and all distances. It is not Morvich, until Saturday unbeaten in two years of racing, nor the immortal Colin, of the dim and cobwebbed past.

Great horses all, they are as a whisper in community chorus compared with Exterminator, hardy, honest son of McGee-Fair Empress, by long odds the finest handicap horse of the age, if not of all ages.

Exterminator stands today following his victory over Grey Lag in the Brooklyn handicap, as the final and ultimate word in popularity, the revered of all things on four legs. Seven years old and with a record of forty-three victories in eighty-one starts, he has gone along his memorable way, winning all sorts and sizes of races from the obscure stake at a local track to the Kentucky derby of 1918. All manner of trainers, good and bad, have trained him; all manner of jockeys have ridden him; all manner of tracks—wet, dry, fast, slow—have known his flying hoofs and the amazing heart that is in him. Exterminator has gone on his patient, placid way beating the best and the worst of them, and never a break has come in the steady run of success the great gelding has known.

Exterminator's victory in the Brooklyn handicap Friday brought his total of winnings up to the round sum of $213,000, the second largest amount ever earned in the history of the American turf. Man-O-War alone won more money, but the latter was sent after the fat purses.

No such luck for Exterminator. He has had to get out and earn his keep in day to day performances ever since his maiden race.

And now, at seven years old, shouldering an impost of 135 pounds, the heaviest that ever rode with a winner of the Brooklyn handicap, he is racing better than ever before in his memorable career.

Man-O-War has been retired. Morvich, it is thought, will follow him at the end of the present season. If Exterminator were able to express himself at this juncture, he might remark that some guys certainly have it soft.

But, being a thoroughbred gentleman, there is no danger of Exterminator saying anything of the kind.

There have been so many false alarms raised lately in the matter of new world's records created in various sport events that the public now has come to disregard the news for a few days until some further confirmation has been received as to whether or not it has been rejected. The matter of getting into the printed news has become an obsession, it would seem, and games officials are prone to fly off the handle without taking the trouble either to verify old records or to be sure as to whether or not the distance may be short the full required course.

The fact that Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavyweight boxer, has cancelled a seven-weeks' vaudeville contract and taken up training at Los Angeles, Calif., has led to considerable speculation among the fight fans as to whether or not the realization has come to Dempsey that he has perhaps played a little too fast and loose with his physical condition and has become a little alarmed. Certain it is that he has not bettered himself by his mode of living, especially during the weeks he was in Europe. Perhaps he has been made to see the handwriting on the wall which is evident to others.

It is interesting to make a comparison of just what Babe Ruth has done in the first twenty-three games he has played in this season as against the first twenty-three games played in 1921. Here are the figures:

| 1922 | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| AB. | R. | BH. | 2B. | 3B. | HR. | Pct. |
| 76 | 16 | 20 | 2 | 1 | 6 | .236 |
| 1921 | | | | | | |
| 86 | 23 | 35 | 6 | 5 | 11 | .407 |

There is nothing of a comforting nature to the Babe in this comparison which shows he has fallen down in every department. Ruth seems destined, at his present clip, to rank with the less than the mediocre. Already the one-time king of swat is being jeered by the fans when he fans out. Such is fame, and popularity is the bunk.

Profiting by the case of Babe Ruth, Champion Jack Dempsey should be able to appreciate that it only takes one good punch on the jaw to turn a superman into a has been. Furthermore, there will always be found those who will say that he "never was he." It is only an imaginary line, and a mighty thin one, between cheers and hoots; between adulation and contempt.

The collegiate rowing classic of the United States will be decided at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Monday, June 26. Six crews have been announced as contenders for the title, Annapolis, last year's winner and the Olympic games world's champion eight heading the list. The other colleges entered are Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and the University of Washington from Seattle, Wash.

The Washingtonians victory over the University of California last April gave the Seattle eight the right to represent the Pacific coast in the regatta. This will be the third time that Washington has rowed in the event their first start being in 1913 when the crew took third and in 1914 when it took fourth.

The Washington crew this year is superior to the 1913 and 1914 crews. Their victory over California early this year was a well earned win and then last Monday their victory over Wisconsin at Madison, Wis., shows that the coast crew is rowing at its best.

Annapolis goes into the race as the favorites. Their easy victory over California last year showed the caliber of the crew and to date this year the navy boys have not suffered a defeat in the various races rowed. The defeat of Wisconsin by Washington has caused the former to withdraw this year and at the same time this easy victory of the coast crew must have its effect of placing the coast eight in the position of being a dangerous contender.

Coach Ed Leader of Washington has rounded out a crew that is probably the fastest crew over three miles that the Pacific northwest has ever produced. True, their time of 16:23 for three miles at Madison, Wis., last Monday is not favorable when compared with the Navy record of 14:07 made in last year's Poughkeepsie's race, but there is a difference in the waters of the two courses and if pressed Washington can cut its time against Wisconsin down considerably. The Washingtonian eight is a strapping heavy bunch of boys averaging round six feet in height and weighing on the average round 174 pounds. Like all previous Pacific coast crews they will be the giant crew in the Poughkeepsie regatta. The eight men who will represent the Pacific coast are George Murphy, captain and stroke; Fred Spuhm No. 7; Virgil Murphy, No. 6; Bob Ingram, No. 5; Floyd Mason, No. 4; Ed Cushman, No. 3; Wright Perkins, No. 2; Pat Tidmarsh How and Don Grant, cox.

The results of previous Poughkeepsie races follow:

TRUCK GARDEN ON AUTO IS LATEST IN COLORADO

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—With the early influx of tourists to the mountain regions, Colorado Springs residents were treated this week to the strange sight of a "traveling truck garden."

With his wife and five children occupying the tonneau, a tourist had lashed behind a touring car a trunk and tent, and on the running boards was a neatly cultivated "garden," including growing lettuce and radishes. The tourist "irrigated" his vegetables with a sprinkler as he was being held at a street crossing for traffic to pass.

Federal Road Aid Has Saved Millions

WASHINGTON — Millions of dollars were saved to an Arkansas community in which a federal-aid road had been completed just before the Mississippi river overflowed its banks and the flood began its course of devastation, according to the department of agriculture.

During high water in the Mississippi word came to Helena, Arkansas, that the levee at Old Town, seventeen miles away, was about to break. The situation was critical, and a delay of a few hours meant the flooding of thousands of acres of rich farming land and endangering of lives. A small army fully equipped with tools and material was required to meet the emergency, and Helena was the only source of aid.

Every available motor vehicle was pressed into service and more than 600 men, properly equipped for the work, were speeding in a short time over the new road to save the levee.

"They arrived in the nick of time," said the department, "and by almost superhuman effor dammed back the rising wate Had it been necessary to make t trip over the old road the lev could not have been reached time and the workers would ha needed boats rather than mot vehicles."

Liver Trouble Leads To Serious Ills
Blood Filter of the Body is Source of Infection

Biliousness is a sure sign of liver trouble—and any derangement of the liver is likely to lead to serious if not fatal results. Torpid liver means "bile poison" in the blood—a dangerous condition. If you have pains under the left shoulder blade, coated tongue, fickle appetite, pale, muddy complexion, or attacks of headache, your liver is probably affected. Read this strong endorsement from Mr. J. W. Strawhecker, 1608 Hunter St., Harrisburg, Pa.:

"I think I can truthfully say that Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills saved my life. I suffered from bilious attacks and was so far gone nothing would help me, and any treatment I tried just made me worse. I had no control over my kidneys and my liver was so bad that my skin was yellow. I felt sure I was getting diabetes. I read in a little booklet of Dr. A. W. Chase's K-L Pills and sent for some, and this is the remedy that saved my life. Today I am a good healthy man, bowels regular, kidneys and liver in good condition, and have a good color and splendid appetite."

Dr. A. W. Chase's remedies can be obtained at any first class drug store. To be sure of getting the genuine, see that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., are on each box. This trade mark is your protection against imitation and substitutes.—Advertisement. 9

COLLEEN MOORE IN HUMAN STORY

'Come On Over,' Picturized by Rupert Hughes, on Screen at Glendale

Rupert Hughes was a pioneer in translating human, natural comedy to the screen. He proves himself an adept in doing just that in his newest Goldwyn film comedy, "Come On Over," which opened at the Glendale Theatre yesterday. It is a delightful blending of comedy, romance and realistic characterizations.

It unfolds the love story of Shane O'Mealia who came to America, leaving his sweetheart behind to be sent for after he was on the road to fortune. Shane's fortune always remains ahead of him, due to ill luck, and after three years, Moyna, the girl, is brought over by friends. She believes that Shane is going to marry Judy Grady, whose father he has befriended, and her spitfire temperament keeps Shane in hot water until, at an evening of old Irish dances, their feet lead them together.

Charming Colleen Moore makes Moyna a very lovable spitfire and Ralph Graves as Shane aids her in keeping the comedy to a high level.

News and Topics are always entertaining films.

cision in the microscopic world as in the planetary systems. How He throws out His sunshine to the ends of the earth! How He floods the earth with air—miles deep! How He has scattered the colors from His coloring pot from one end of creation to the other! What variations and varieties of life, animal and vegetable!

"I think God, who has done all of this, must be displeased when we, the creatures of His own image, are determined to do things on a small scale! So little of self, limiting and begrudging our service as small as it is, whereas we should gladly give all. So little of devotion when we should sing 'Were the whole realm of nature mine, that a present far too small.'

"Jesus Christ, God's Son, always did the magnificent thing. As He walked among men nothing was ignored by Him because it was small. But Has master-touch made it great. He took the little child and set it in the midst of them, and made it the biggest thing of the Kingdom. In His teaching on 'service'—He glorified the 'cup of cold water.' In tonight's lesson, to meet the great need of the hour, He uses the loaves and the fishes of the boy's lunch.

Saving of Fragments

"While Christ always did more than was expected, He did not waste anything of value. He arranged for the saving of the fragments. Nothing was so small as to be useless. But the thing I would impress upon you, members of the graduating class of 1922 of Glendale Union high school, is: That the bigger the worker, the more he attempts. What audacity and what adventure were His in attempting to supply thousands with that which otherwise would have been consumed by one! The more you get of the Divine insight, the greater value you will learn to put on the little things of life.

"Young men and women, your worth to a needy world will be largely determined by the big way you will go about little things. Great men take the lesser things and transform them into the immensities of life. Bigness in you will be demonstrated by your ability to see the possibility in small things. The Apostles saw the impossible task. Their eyes were on the hungry crowd. Jesus saw the loaves and fishes.

"Our question this evening is: How can we take the capital of life, however small it may be, into the market place and put it to big uses? I'm not talking about things, but about life. How may your life, with God's blessing, be made to serve the multitude?

"Success is a magic and magnificent word. Too many fail to put into it its fullest meaning. The Apostles were satisfied that the multitude saw Jesus and heard His words. That was to them success. To feed the crowd was not on the program. But Jesus said, 'Give ye them to eat.' With the limited supply they had at hand, under the Divine direction, the whole company was fed. This was success indeed. And nothing else than meeting the full demand of the hour could have been real success.

Meaning of Success

"Young ladies and gentlemen, what does success mean to you? is it a matter of being satisfied yourself, or is it meeting the need of the many? There is something more than a dictionary meaning to this word success. We find it only in the book of living experience. What might be success at one time would be failure at another. The disciples, following the direction of the Master, were able to make much out of little. And the Scripture says, 'They all did eat and were filled.' And there was some left over. As you look out on a needy world and realize that much of the supply of that need is to result from your lives, may we not together consider what it is that brings the big success.

"First, let us look at it negatively. Men fail because they wait for a lucky day. The disciples would have succeeded had there been a bakery near,' but there were none. Luck is a myth. There is no such thing. The man who depends on luck fails. Luck and good fortune are only other words for good honest effort. To win, one must use the best of body and brain. You must not sit quietly down and wait, and complain because of the unusual circumstances. You must make things occur. You must create auspicious conditions. There is a Norse over which is inscribed this legend: 'I'll find a way, or make one.' That is it. It may mean emblem in the form of a pick-axe strenuous effort. Success is never easy.

Must Not Waste Time

"Achievement never comes to the one who ruthlessly wastes his time. The man who has no regard for the 'fragments' is doomed to disappointment and failure. Benjamin Franklin,' scholar, diplomat, and philosopher, wrote. 'Time is the stuff life is made of.' Horace Mann, the great educator, sent forth this curious advertisement, 'Lost: Somewhere between sunrise and sunset, two golden hours, each set with sixty diamond minutes. No reward is offered. They are gone forever.' No person can succeed who forms the habit of disregarding time.

"Victory never results from an effort to shift the blame. If the disciples had stubbornly insisted that the crowd should have brought its own lunch and that no obligation rested upon them, there would have been no miracle wrought that day. Young people, you have found and you will continue to find that it is easy to shift the blame, but it doesn't get you anywhere. Never permit yourselves to destructively criticize anything. I am thinking again of the Norse legend with its pick-axe. Don't use the axe too much. If you have nothing constructive to offer, do not offer anything. How naturally some of us can detect the extremes and extravagances of life! Ellen wheeler Wilcox gives us this sage advice:

Don't look for the flaws as you go through life,
And even when you find them
It is wise and kind to be somewhat blind,
And look for the virtues behind them.
For the cloudiest night has a hint of light,
Somewhere in its shadows hiding,
It is better by far to look for a star,
Than the spots on the sun abiding.

"I wish now to bring you three things that will mean ultimately the successful investment of the capital of your life. The necessity of a high aim. No person ever achieves real success by chance. Emerson said, 'Hitch your wagon to a star.' Why not hitch it to God who made the star? No one ever gets the joy of victory without reaching for it. When Balzac's father tried to discourage his son from the pursuit of literature, he said to him, 'Do you know that in literature a man must be a king or a beggar?' 'Very well,' replied the boy, 'I'll be a king.' His disgusted parent left him to his fate in a garret, but he made his decision and set his mark, and he fought his way to victory.

Must Master Self

"The second element in the victorious life is self-mastery. It is 'will' that counts, and 'he that ruleth his own spirit is greater than he who taketh a city.' The man who has acquired the ability to hold himself steady while the rest of the world goes by has already attained a success. The problem that confronts us is not to rule others, but one's self. This ability acquired, young people, will take you all the way.

"Finally, I wish to leave with you as an essential to success, the necessity of an unselfish purpose. The disciples' idea was selfish—fundamentally wrong. They considered the cost. Said they, 'We have no more but five loaves and two fishes, except we should go and buy meat for all this people.' They considered the cost, Jesus saw the investment. The reason, humanly speaking, that our Lord succeeded is that He had a mighty purpose to save the world. This unselfish purpose, while it took Him into the garden and up the rough slopes of Calvary gave Him 'a Name that is above every name.' A frequent misquotation of Scripture is to the effect that 'money is the root of all evil.' What the Bible actually says is this: 'The love of money is a root of all kinds of evil.' But of selfishness it can truly be said that it is the root of all evil. May I ask you, Honored Graduates, what is your supreme purpose in life? Why are you seeking an education? Is it to find an easy, or a dignified place in life, or is it to fit yourselves for service? Hear Jesus, the Son of God, and our human Brother, as He says: 'For the Son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and give his life.' Jesus Christ literally gave Himself for the world, and in doing it exultantly said, 'And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me.' The world seems to be built upon that plan, although so many fail to recognize the fact. Young men and women, members of the graduating class, to get the equipment necessary to this life of service, make all other ambitions secondary. Life is so full of allurements—so many enticing voices would lead you aside—there must be a fixed and steady and determined purpose to prepare yourselves for the lifting of the heavy load of life.

"There is now in many of your lives the question as to the direction of your future training. One should enter college with a definite aim as far as preparation is concerned. This one principle may I presume to give you: Figure out your calling not only on the basis of your special aptitudes and natural abilities, but on the basis of the world's need. And whatever it may be, have the assurance that this is God's place for you. Preparation then will come with the inspiration of a Divine call. Every calling in life should be as surely from God as is the calling to the Christian ministry. The world would be a thousand leagues further on toward the perfect day if the men of business or professional life felt that their calling was of God as surely as does the preacher.

"The question is one of investment. Each must inquire of himself: 'Where can I best put my life to bring in the greatest returns?' Jesus Christ, in our narrative, permitted the disciples to have the joy of feeding the multitude. 'He brake and gave to them, and they to the crowd.' Your life, with this enjoyment in it, will be complete. 'The crown is not the kingdom: nor is one king because he wears a crown.'"

IMPULSE IS SAFE GUIDE PROVIDED IT IS GOOD

Rev. C. M. Calderwood of Congregational Church Explains Difference

"An impulse unfulfilled is of no more use than the steam that escapes from an idle locomotive," said Rev. C. M. Calderwood in his sermon on "Unfulfilled Impulses" at the Congregational church gathering yesterday morning.

"A person without impulses would be like a locomotive without steam. When the forces and influences of our lives seem to focus at one point and say to us, 'You must do this or that,' we call it an impulse. Our lives are replete with impulses. Some are evil and some are good. Some lives are driven almost wholly by these sudden impelling forces, while some are driven by a steady power with only occasionally an added impulse.

Movement of Soul

"An impulse is an act of the heart rather than of the will. It is a spontaneous movement of the soul. Some people scorn impulses, and talk considerably of impulsive people as though they were foolish and hysterical. Give me your good impulse and you can keep your caution. Caution puts the drag on the wheels of progress, but impulse is the flaming force which drives it. And it is because love is an impulse, and because the relation between us and X is love that I bid you follow the impulse which impels you toward him. Let the heart act for you and the brain will follow. It is in these sacred moments of divine impulse that we find Christ, that we love him, follow him.

"But is impulse a safe guide? Will it not lead people astray? Yes, a bad impulse may, but a good one will not. There are impulses of the flesh and impulses of the spirit. You must judge the source of an impulse by its quality and its object. We must learn to choose. These great Christian impulses are great cumulative forces that come to us frequently and they are capable of driving us a long way to some good cause, but we let the force spend itself in escaping steam or a faint whistle. The important thing is not the number of these impulses that we get, but the number that we use.

"We Americans like preaching and like to be stirred We are stirred in the morning, and go home and take a sedative in the afternoon. The stirring does us no good if we settle down into our normal state again. We have an impulse to follow Jesus, but we let the impulse die and we fail to follow. Divine impulses are not simply to be felt, but to be used."

WIRELESS USED IN WAR AGAINST BOOTLEGGERS

DETROIT. — Wireless will be used by the state police against rum runners, attempting to smuggle liquor over the border, Colonel Roy Vandercook, head of that organization, announces.

Any activity on the part of a rum runner in Canada, indicating he is going to leave will be flashed by Canadian custom officials, and state police in charge of the several stations on this shore, will immediately notify prohibition officials, Mr. Vandercook says.

One wireless station is to be installed at Negaunee, another at Gaylord, a third at Grand Rapids and others at Detroit and elsewhere.

Because of their sluggish action on rough roads, rusty springs will cause damage to the car and tires.

The average motor vehicle travels twenty-one miles daily.

VARIOUS KINDS OF PRISONERS TOLD BY SPEAKER

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Says Unfilled Ambitions Lock Up Many Persons

"Environment" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds outlined a narrative by Dr. Henry T. Fields who visited the great prison in Tangiers and saw the wretched prisoners in chains huddled together like cattle with no occupation and no food and suffering from every form of disease. He was given permission to distribute a wagon load of bread for which they fought like wolves. Not a face smiled; many of them were insane; they were crushed under conditions.

"There are millions of spiritual prisoners in the world today living without hope and without God unable to surmount conditions, anchored and chained to circumstances," declared Rev. Edmonds. "If any here are such prisoners, may God unlock you and let you go free.

Unfilled Ambitions

"We are all locked up more or less within the walls of limitation and restriction, a great army of prisoners of unfulfilled ambitions. There are prisoners to bonds of physical weakness and suffering. Some such have been shining lights of useful service, nevertheless. We should be looking out to help such. Another group are prisoners of abuse and misrepresentation whose just reward will come only hereafter. Some of our greatest men suffered terrible misrepresentation work. There is too much of unjust blame upon our public men. Be done, Christian people, with flinging insults upon public servants.

"There are other prisoners of disappointed hopes, blasted expectations. These are a great army. Many lose heart for want of breathing room.

"But there are prisoners to prosperity, loaded with the sin of grasping for more wealth. Few can stand the test of wealth. It makes a vast difference who is master, you or your gold. God gave you your brain to be able to reason and decide.

"Samuel Appleby, great shipowner, was extremely anxious about an over-due uninsured ship. He made out a check representing the whole ship and cargo for God determined not to be a slave to his gold."

Club Members Hold Outing at Brookside

A very happy out-door affair was enjoyed Saturday when the members of the G. S. G. S. Girls' Club were hostesses to a number of their friends, entertaining with an afternoon picnic and evening lunch at Brookside Park, Pasadena, motoring over at 4 o'clock, they avoided the heat of the day, finding the park comfortably cool. With swimming, tennis matches, and informal dancing the hours sped almost too swiftly by. A delicious lunch was served and the party returned at an early hour.

Members of the club are Vivian Nay, Marjorie Hart, Lucile Beach, Marjorie Temple, Carolyn Ayers, Alict Hill, Frederica Browne, Beryl Goodale. Invited guests were Robert Hatch, Arthur Barton, Dallas Kalbaugh, Douglas Gregg, Alex McDougall, Clifford Walcott, Davis Chandler, Arthur Pitcher, Carlton Walker, Charles Hart, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Nay, Mrs. L. E. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Goodale, Evelyn Goodale and John Nay.

MISSION PAGEANT IS OFFERED BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Feature of Program at the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday Afternoon

A missionary pageant presented by a group of young people will be the feature of the afternoon program of the women's all-day meeting tomorrow at the Presbyterian church. The sketch is called "The Monday Morning Clinic at the San Juan Hospital in Porto Rico" and the presentation is being directed by Mrs. A. D. Smith.

The pageant depicts the life and activities of the missionaries. Included in the cast are ten main characters and many others who take minor parts.

It is the story of a wealthy eastern woman who goes to visit the mission hospital. She is not in sympathy with foreign mission support or activity, but her visit to the hospital shows her what is being done for the people and she goes away pledging her interest and support.

Those in Cast

Miss Mildred Elliott will be seen as Mrs. Harmon, the wealthy visitor from the east, and other members of the cast will be: Miss Louise Daugherty, Miss Mondfeld, the missionary; Miss Marie Grasenz, a Porto Rican mother; Miss Mary Stanley, a Porto Rican nurse; Miss Margaret West, Miss Ordway, superintendent of the hospital; Percy Jewell, Dr. Hildreth; Robert Boyd, a lame man, and patients.

The church women are to meet at 10 o'clock in the morning for a sewing hour and a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. The pageant will be the entertainment event of the afternoon and will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

ROBERT RUSSELL IS GREAT CHEF

Serves Fine Barbecue to 250 Persons at Verdugo Woodlands Saturday

The annual barbecue and picnic of the E. J. Stanton & Son Hardwood Lumber company of Los Angeles was held Saturday afternoon at the Newport Pavilion, Verdugo Woodlands. The employes of the company and their families, numbering some 250 persons, enjoyed the affair.

Robert Russell, chef with the F. P. Newport company, assisted by his wife, prepared the meal, which was served at 1:30 o'clock, when the picnickers arrived from Los Angeles. Mr. Russell is a master at the art and served a delicious meal, consisting of rib barbecue, Spanish beans, hot rolls, coffee, and "plenty of trimmings," as he expressed it. The trimmings included potato salad, ice cream and cake and soft drinks.

After the meal the office and yard employes played off an old feud in a five-inning baseball game, which resulted in a 17 to 17 score. Then the less athletic ones had a chance at a prize in a pie eating contest, which left mute evidence on many faces. The remainder of the program consisted of foot races, horseshoe pitching contests for both girls and men, a tug of war, which was won by the yard forces, and other athletic events. Before returning home the party was served with another big helping of ice cream and cake.

"All materials for the barbecue were bought in Glendale," said Chef Russell. "Trade at home."

Polish Man, Age 132, Mourns His Wife, 98

WARSAW—Sergeant Jan Krasinski, a Pole, who claims that he fought at the battle of Borodino 110 years ago, and that he is the sole survivor of Napoleon's armies and one of the oldest men in the world, has returned to Posen, his native heath, to spend his declining days.

If Jan's memory serves him correctly he is 132 years old. He claims that he was twenty-two at the time the battle of Borodino was fought. He is still full of life and vigor.

For the past few years Jan has been fighting in the Russian army, he declares. He is mourning the loss of his "young" wife, who recently died at the tender age of ninety-eight.

Thief Steals Phone In Busy Poolroom

DECATUR, Ill.—This is not the tale of the lost chord but of the lost cord to which was attached one perfectly good telephone. Continuing our story, a money box filled with coins was attached to the telephone, all of which some thief made away with by clipping the cord. The theft was made in a crowded pool room.

Display Advertising Gets Church Results

BOSTON.—Paid advertising is a phase of church efficiency which gets results, Mrs. Caroline S. Atherton, corresponding secretary of the Alliance of Unitarian and other Liberal Christian women, told anniversary week delegates at the annual meeting in Tremont Temple.

As a result of a co-operative advertising program to promote the distribution of religious literature, ninety-eight Alliance branches, the American Unitarian Association and the Unitarian Laymen's League, she declared, received more than 6,000 requests for publications from parts of the world as remote as Alaska and the Malay States.

Government to Aid Consumers of Meat

WASHINGTON—Seeking to improve the service of retail meat dealers to consumers, the department of agriculture has devised a plan which will make available to retail meat dealers daily information concerning live stock and meat supplies and prices.

The department has trained market reporters at leading live-stock markets and consuming centers in the east and middle west. These offices are connected with each other by a system of telegraph wires which enables them to know by noon each day the condition of the national live-stock and meat industry.

It is proposed to make this data available to retail meat dealers, which, department of agriculture officials assert, will reflect better service to consumers.

A uniform system of classifying and grading livestock also has been worked out by the department, with a view to eliminating the confusion arising from the numerous classifications. Under this plan all meat is graded strictly on its merits regardless of its origin.

Wounded Veteran Successful Rancher

WASHINGTON.—The World War afforded at least one man an opportunity to become financially independent without having attached to his name the stigma of being a war grafter or profiteer.

Judson C. Doke did his bit for Uncle Sam when the need was urgent. When hostilities ceased he became a Veterans' Bureau trainee and took the non-collegiate course in animal husbandry at the Colorado Agricultural College.

Today, according to the Bureau, Doke is the herd manager of a dairy ranch near Denver, receiving in addition to a monthly salary of $100, a completely furnished house, a garden, transportation facilities and the privilege of keeping his own dairy herd with that of the company at no expense to himself. The milk of the herd, however, goes to the company. But any increase in the herd is his, which permits him to build up his own stock, thus giving him the opportunity to start in business for himself.

Business Training Offered to Veterans

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Disabled former soldiers who desire to become proficient in accountancy, business administration, commerce and finance may qualify for this work by pursuing an intensive course of training at Duquesne university, Pittsburgh, Pa., the veterans' bureau announced recently.

The bureau has just inaugurated a special short course in this field which will be continuous throughout the year. Disabled former service men with two years of high school education, qualified to pursue this work, can finish any of these courses in three years and receive from the university the degree of B.S. in economics.

This course, the bureau stated, is open to trainees throughout the United States. More than forty students already are enrolled and forty additional trainees can be provided for during this period.

NO SMOKES ON DUTY IS ORDER FOR POLICEMEN

ATLANTA, Ga.—City bosses of Atlanta have decreed that smoking shall cease while Atlanta policemen are on duty and that the moon shall shine not at all for the law enforcers.

Policemen will be discharged summarily under the new instructions from City Council if they are caught smoking while on duty or if they even so much as take a nip of liquor at any time during the day or night, whether on or off duty. Only the smell on his breath will be needed to make the discharge instantaneous.

AMERICAN IS CAUSE OF SENSATION IN EGYPT

CAIRO—It took an American to cause a social sensation in Egypt.

The American Diplomatic Agent and Consul-General in Cairo recently gave a banquet in honor of Premier Sarwat Pasha. He was mindful of his country's laws, and the fact that his consulate was American territory, hence the banquet was dry. This was a sensation for Cairo and is still the subject of conversation about the clubs.

WASHINGTON—The commercial acreage of late watermelons in eleven states is estimated at 45,700 acres, according to reports to the Department of Agriculture.

Missouri, with 10,410 acres, is the largest producing state and Oklahoma is next with 7,310.

The Gusher Oil Field of America

Three weeks ago I laid $30,000.00 cash on the barrel head to the Globe Petroleum Corp. for four (4) acres of their holdings there. That day it was no cinch. I have since refused $100,000.00 for my lease. Nine days ago the General Petroleum Corp. drilled in their Agee Well, flowing 4000 barrels a day, 250 feet from the south line of my property.

I am going to drill a well on one acre of this myself, but a well there costs real money, and I shot my bank roll when I bought this tract.

I want you with me and I am going to make you the cleanest offer ever tendered the public in this or any other oil field.

I need $175,000 to drill this well. I am assigning 70% of my total net production of this well and one full acre to you with the

Citizens Trust and Savings Bank

Holding this assignment in trust for 25 years.

Every 30 days they will disburse the proceeds of this 70% to you, pro rata, as it is paid to them by the pipe line company, and for every $100.00 you invest you will receive 1-1750 part of this production. On a 4000-barrel well at $2.35 a barrel, figure it out for yourself.

I have no board of directors at fat salaries to juggle your profits or build up a surplus for future development. You get yours every 30 days as it runs through the pipe line, paid direct to you by the bank.

My lease lays directly between two wells, each flowing 4000 barrels daily, bounded on the east by the Standard Oil Company, on the west by the Dutch Shell, on the south by the General Petroleum Corp. and on the north by the Petroleum Midway. If I don't drill in a big well here, there is no oil in the world.

Now, I am not going to tell you that I drilled the Lakeview Gusher at Maricopa or the Big Trapshooter in Louisiana, but in 15 years in the oil fields I have drilled on 137 wells and have never failed to finish a job.

I have fifteen picked men to start at once on this well, all drawing top wages and a cash bonus to them of $2000.00 to have our well on production in ninety days.

My rig is being rushed to completion now. A new standard rotary outfit will be delivered immediately and in two weeks we will be balling the Jack and there will be a lot of them trailing when I hit that pay.

I am trying to offer you the squarest and surest opportunity for big returns that it is humanly possible to make.

I have no salesmen to call on you or stenographers to answer your correspondence. So, if you like my offer, just mail your check to me for the amount you want to shoot and make it payable to the Citizens Trust and Savings Bank or come in and see me personally. All I ask is "Do It Now" for this ad will not appear many times.

NECESSARY PRECAUTIONS REGARDING FILAMENT CURRENT AND PLATE POTENTIAL

It has been pointed out that an increased plate current may be had with increasing filament temperature (filament current) and plate voltage. It is not, however, necessary to have maximum possible plate current in many cases. The steady value is that which is referred to. Also, if the filament is heated to too high a temperature it will melt and the tube will be rendered useless. Even though the filament does not melt, the filament current should not be increased any more than is necessary because the filament life will thereby be shortened. For maximum filament life a moderate temperature (moderate current) is best.

If too high plate voltages are used with the "soft" or low vacuum detector tubes a blue glow will be caused, which is due to the ionization of the gas within the tube. This ionization has been explained previously. When it occurs the tube is rendered insensitive as a detector, or, at least, the operation is decidedly poorer. Also, when ionization is caused, the fragmentary gas atoms, the "ions," are repelled by the positively charged plate because the ions are themselves positively charged. Gas atoms are material substances, and so are the ions, which are only atoms, which, in this case, have lost electrons. The ions are, therefore, quite heavy, compared to the electrons, and will do material damage to the filament if they strike it at high velocity. Ionization, therefore, reduces the life of the filament. High plate voltages may be used with very high vacuum tubes, the "hard" tubes, since ionization does not ordinarily occur unless the plate has some gas within itself which can be released by the heat caused when electrons strike it at high velocity. It is not at all advisable to use any higher plate voltages than necessary, even with the hard tubes, since the higher voltages mean increased energy drain from the plate battery. When very excessive plate voltages are used the plate of a tube may heat up considerably and emit electrons itself. The action then becomes very erratic and the results are poorer, even though the plate does not melt. With high enough plate voltages the plate might even melt, but such a result is rarely experienced with a receiving tube unless it is actually premeditated.

A VARIABLE CONDENSER WITH MICA DIELECTRIC

The construction of the variable condenser illustrated is quite different from the usual intermeshed plate types having an air dielectric. One advantage is the securing of the desired maximum capacity in a condenser of much smaller dimensions. The condenser illustrated has a maximum capacity of .001 microfarads.

This novel design is very efficient. Two metal plates only are used. One is fixed near the bottom of the condenser case and the other is movable without rotating. The dielectric separating the two plates is a thin disc of high grade mica. There being no movable plates, the condenser does not require to be balanced and is stable and permanent in adjustment at any setting of the scale. For this reason it is especially well suited to panel mounting. Very low effective resistance in this condenser insures increased selectivity in any receiving set. The scale is practically the 360 degree instead of the usual 180 degree scale. The type shown is for table mounting, but the one designed for panel mounting is practically the same, less the binding posts and equipped with holes for the accommodation of screws or bolts. It is only necessary to drill four holes in the panel. A large knob is provided for ease in securing fine adjustment.

The movable plate mentioned above moves backwad and forward, toward and away from the fixed plate. Thus varying the distance between the plates in smooth and extremely gradual steps provides for delicate adjustments. This motion of the movable plate is controlled by the knob. By readjusting the dial a very low capacity can be secured, which is capable of very delicate adjustment. The condenser can then be used as a vernier in connection with a second one set for a higher minimum capacity. This is of considerable value in short wave reception.

Airplane 'Sleepers' London to Paris

LONDON—"Fly-by-night" will be more than a slang phrase if Maj. Gen. Sir W. S. Brancker, civil aviation director for Great Britain, has his way.

General Brancker is backing proposals for night flying routes between Paris and London. It is proposed to erect huge beacon lights on the ground along the route to enable the aviators to find their way from Paris to London.

Aerial "sleeping" cars are not altogether an impossibility.

GIRL PRESENTED MEDAL FOR SAVING ELEVEN LIVES

WASHINGTON — Miss Helen Hopkins, captain of a girl scout troop here, is the proud possessor today of a gold medal awarded for valor displayed during the Knickerbocker theatre disaster last winter. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover presented the emblem on behalf of the Girl Scouts of America.

Miss Hopkins was seated in the orchestra of the theatre when the accident occurred. She assisted in saving eleven lives.

Girl scouts from all sections of the country and members of the Girl Scout Council were present at the ceremonies.

HAS MUSIC TABOOED AT HIS FUNERAL SERVICES

WHITE HALL, Ill. — As you live so should you die. So thought George W. Henderson, aged seventy-seven years, who at his own request was buried in a manner symbolic of his life. Henderson, an eccentric bachelor, who lived alone on a farm near here, requested that no singing or preaching mark his burial. He was laid away in the requested quietude.

London Laughs at Slang of Yankees

LONDON—"Saybos!" That is the latest slang in London for overseas visitors from the United States.

Americans are now pouring into London in great numbers, and the Londoners always find the "Saybos" good for a laugh. Incidentally, the Americans get a few snickers out of the Londoners.

"Oh, boy! Say, ain't this grand?" is the expression most commonly used by Americans when they enter Westminster Abbey, according to one writer in the London press who is making a neat little salary by holding up Americans to ridicule for the entertainment of Londoners.

This writer likens Americans to wild birds. "They make good pets, but you must keep them in a hotel with plenty of bathrooms, or else they pine away and die or disappear," the writer admits, which to Americans seems something of a compliment in view of the widespread but unfounded reputation the English have for taking numerous "bawths."

"I must warn readers," the London humorist continues, "that the arrival of the 'Saybos' is not a sure sign of spring these days; they frequently come over here in winter to perch on wine cards."

And so the Londoners are getting a good laugh out of Americans, and the Americans are getting a good laugh out of the Londoners, and everybody should be happy.

MOYER JUNCTION, Wyo.—A fast mail train on the Oregon Short Line was held up near here by an ordinary woodpecker, delaying the train thirty minutes. According to the engineer's report, who stopped the train when he discovered the block signal system was out of order, the woodpecker had pecked one of the wires of the system in two, in the evident belief that he had captured a worm.

"VACANT" SIGN MEANS VERY LITTLE IN FRANCE

PARIS—Merely because a sign says "apartment vacant" does not mean there is a chance to rent these days of housing shortage, according to A. Goulby in the Echo National. Proprietors are required by law to post such a sign whenever a tenant moves out. The apartment is usually rented, however, by private agreement, some time before the enticing sign is displayed to eager house hunters.

MARRIED POLICEMEN ARE BEST, AUTHORITIES SAY

Cir-carn-a-sho is the coined word describing the event to be staged by the Eagle Rock American Legion June 23 and 24 in a tent at the corner of Colorado boulevard and Central avenue in that city.

As the name indicates, it will be a combination of circus, carnival and just show. There will be plenty of hokum to provide the fun, lots of athletes to share the thrills with their audiences and plenty of music to make things merry around the big top.

It is expected that equally as many Glendale and Pasadena people will attend this frolic as from Eagle Rock.

Rev. Frederick Taylor Heads North Baptists

INDIANAPOLIS, June 19. — The Rev. Frederick E. Taylor of Indianapolis was elected president of the Northern Baptist convention, in session here. Fundamentalists, who early in the convention announced intention of making strenuous efforts to carry the election and swing into control of the denomination, did not present any ticket and the slate of the liberalists nominating committee was unopposed.

The election spelled final defeat for the fundamentalists, who late yesterday suffered a heavy blow in failure to obtain adoption of a statement of creed.

Corwin S. Shank, Seattle, Mich., was elected vice-president; Rev. Frank Goodchild, Brooklyn, N. Y., second vice-president; Rev. William C. Bitting, St. Louis, Mo., corresponding secretary; Rev. # COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Beautiful Weather Now
Metropolitan Sewers
About Trading at Home
People Recognize Value

By Gil A. Cowan

BEAUTIFUL weather we're having now, isn't it?

How many members of this congregation attended church yesterday?

Or were you remiss in your duty and stole off to the hills or went down by the sea?

If you did either undoubtedly you saw some human derelicts floating around the crowd or camped along the roadside.

Seems funny how some people never will settle down and amount to something in the short life they are given on earth in which to live.

Right here in Glendale you can find some of these human derelicts who have no ambition to do things. They want others to do their share and more besides.

Two of them were seen wandering about the streets Saturday. Maybe there are more today. And a lot are camouflaged with good clothes and a pleasant countenance which cover lazy bodies and aimless ideas.

Stating that sewage disposal is an inter-city problem, the Southwest Builder and Contractor in its current issue says:

"Developments of the last year show that Los Angeles' problem is no longer one distinctly her own but that it has a very close relation to similar problems in all adjoining cities and particularly those along the ocean.

"Ultimately the greater part, if not all, of Los Angeles county will be under a single municipal control. But until that time the existence of a metropolitan district must be recognized in handling not only the problems of sewage disposal but also those of traffic and inter-communication and community development. Nothing is to be gained by any city scrapping with her neighbor or neighbors. Strife does not engender good feeling and cordial relations must exist if mutually satisfactory agreements are to be had on vital questions.

"Consummation of pending negotiations between Los Angeles and Culver City on the question of sewage disposal will mark the first step in recognition of a metropolitan district. Culver City people realize that the destiny of their community is inseparably bound up with that of Los Angeles and they are moving now to a permanent solution of the sewage disposal problem of Culver City in connection with Los Angeles' efforts to remedy her inadequate facilities. Other neighboring cities would do well to follow the example of Culver City and settle the whole question of sewage disposal for all time."

There is a deal of truth in the foregoing comment about conditions as they must be faced by communities.

Time has shown that Los Angeles alone cannot serve the rapidly growing sections round about her.

So the whole proposition reverts to the whole body politic of a metropolitan district becoming vitally interested in the welfare of all.

Business men will build "trade at home" as soon as they appreciate what that term means.

When they themselves patronize local institutions, almost exclusively, confine their efforts to making Glendale greater and giving their time to developing civic spirit—then and then only will they reap the full benefit of "trade at home."

Many of the merchants already recognize the factors that are building Glendale, of which The Glendale Evening News is one of the foremost considerations. So is the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and other institutions in which the people have placed their confidence.

The Glendale Evening News has stood by this city when war and other conditions would have wiped out the average newspaper plant and obliterated civic spirit. This newspaper for a time, with its owner and employes, kept a Chamber of Commerce after the public had become too impoverished to support the effort.

The Glendale Evening News has the most complete publishing and printing plant in the San Fernando valley. It is prepared to handle all kinds of job and book printing, produce a newspaper as large as the business interests can support and otherwise fill its niche in the scheme of things.

Did you know that The Glendale Evening News is almost eighteen years old, nine years of which it has been a daily publication?

And did you ever stop to think how many thousand boosts it has given this city? It has consistently done more than any one factor in advertising the city of homes, the fastest growing community in America of its kind.

When it comes to real value there are many people who appreciate what independence, stability, experience and other attributes are necessary to the continuation of a successwul institution.

Further, if you have any suggestions as to how this newspaper may make itself more valuable to the citizens of the community, let's hear about it.

OLD WORLD GOES AND NEW COMES, PASTOR SAYS

One From Western Nations to Lead In Development, Rev. Cole States

"Parents, what shall we lay upon the hearts of our children? Fame? Money? Ease?"

These questions were asked by Rev. C. A. Cole yesterday morning at the Central Christian church in his sermon on "Knights of the New Crusade."

"I have never wished before" said Rev. Cole, "that I were back in college and ready to hear again the call of the world.

"We talked of what the war would bring for the church and the new idealism of the world. What poor prophets we were—and yet how great! We said it would be a new world. That is true. We said men would have new ideals. They have. But we did not reckon with many, many upheavals and new possibilities it would bring forth. God has run his plowshares of judgment across the minds and hearts of whole nations and races and continents. He has prepared the world for the greatest seed-time of truth that the world has ever known.

Readily Influenced

It is impossible to switch a motionless engine, but one which is moving already may be easily directed. This is one reason why the world today is so readily influenced by new and often wild theories of governments, economics and religion. Three-quarters of humanity is already in motion. From Vladivostok to Petrograd, from Shanghai to Constantinople, from Cairo to the Cape people are groping for new leadership, new life. India's veins are tingling with the wine of nationalism. China has destroyed the foundations of her government and is trying to build a new structure. The breaking down of Islam's political power has brought hunger and chaos to the leaderless Near East. Llassa, the forbidden city, has asked for a missionary doctor to come and establish a hospital. Kabul, where one stream is used for both water supply and sewer, is becoming interested in sanitation. Arabia is asking for railroads to the sacred cities of Mecca and Medina. The old world is gone and someone from the western nations will lead in the development of a new world. The only question is, shall the leadership be Christian?

"What shall I do with my life? That's the supreme question. It ought to grip every young person like a voice from the Judgment. It should be like a flaming searchlight piercing the depths of duty and desire. It must be faced and answered, either by devotion and daring, or by defection and delay.

"Not, 'How shall I make a living?' Shame on you! How shall I lay out my life? What shall I do with it?"

Musical Program at C. A. Parker Home

Members and friends of the Congregational church are anticipating with great pleasure the musical program to be given on Wednesday afternoon, June 21, at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Parker, 212 North Orange street, to augment the fund for the new church organ. This is the second affair given to increase the fund, the first event having been a concert last spring. At that time a goodly sum was realized. However, those in charge of the musicale are aspiring to a greater success.

The program will begin at 2:30 o'clock and will be featured by harp solos by Mrs. Enona Hopkins; vocal numbers by Mrs. Gerard Kaemmerling and Mrs. Helen Graham Cole; pianologues by Mrs. L. N. Hagood, and selections by the Nevin Quartet composed of Mesdames Helen Graham Cole, Frank Arnold, Albert Draper and Charles A. Parker. Mrs. Hagood will accompany the quartet.

Local Folk to Take Part In Big Program

Spencer Robinson, Glendale's "singing mayor," has been invited to participate in the program to be given tomorrow night at the Garden of the Moon, Tujunga's new amusement park, by the Women's Club of Tujunga. The fiesta will begin in the afternoon and is to be the first of a series of affairs to be given for raising funds for the erection of a clubhouse there. Dr. Jessie Russell of Glendale will also be a speaker on the evening's program and will extend greetings from the club women of the county.
